

Research employers to ensure a successful career fair experience

Ok, so you have your elevator speech ready to go for the Engineering Career Fair (if not, go here). After you deliver your speech, you want to be able to keep impressing the employer by being able to talk with them about their business and how you would fit in.

Employers appreciate it when you have done your homework on them and they become more drawn to you for that very reason. They see that you didn't just pick a line to stand in so you could land any internship or job.

Review the list of registered employers and see which ones are hiring for your major, degree and employment status; and whether employers are hiring for full-time, internships, or both.

We also link each employer name to their website. Learn more about the employers you would like to meet. Go beyond the company website too. See the "Featured articles" in the "Advice from the Experts" section below.

Since there will be so many students in attendance, employers will not have a lot of time to spend with you, but they are willing to spend a bit more time with the students who come prepared.

NEXT WEEK: Attending the career fair

EMPLOYER RESEARCH QUICK TIPS

- Go beyond the "About us" page on the company website.
- LinkedIn. Who else works there?
- Check Glassdoor for reviews
- Google news articles and blogs
- Show them that you know them!

APPLY BEFORE THE FAIR!

Some employers you meet with will tell you to go apply to the openings posted on their website or on UIC Careers. Do this ahead of time and your resume has a better chance of landing in the "call back" pile.
