

Making the most of your Engineering Career Fair experience

There will be 90 employers at the Engineering Career Fair on Thursday. Being prepared and having a strategy for navigating the fair will increase your chances of landing more interviews, leading to more potential offers.

To prepare, you should have your elevator speech ready to go and make sure you research the employers you want to meet while at the career fair. Be sure to apply to any postings on employers' websites or on UICcareers. They will appreciate your proactive approach.

Dress professionally. Examples

The career fair will be crowded. Be patient and keep a smile on your face. You should be in interview mode the entire time. You never know when an employer is peeking at what's going on in their line or on the sidelines.

The key is to be memorable and stand out in a good way. Employers will remember the students who are able to highlight their own strengths and relate them to the needs of the employer (which shows you did your research!). More preparation = More confidence. No need to be nervous. Be ready!
