Maximize your summer! Here are some tips for having a productive summer and keeping your skills sharp.

- Check out last week's article about how to maximize your internship, if you have one.
- Browse Lynda.com and take online tutorials to boost your skills – log in through the UIC Library website. It's free for UIC students!
- If you don't have an internship, see if you can find work on campus, in a lab, or in an off-campus job. Keep building transferable skills (such as time management, customer service, and organization skills) during the summer!
- Spend time volunteering with community organizations, summer programs, tutoring, etc. to build your skills.

It's also important to have fun and recharge your batteries to gear up for a great fall semester!
